

VANGUARD PRODUCTIONS

Dead of Night 2

(Winter Solstice)

By Terence M. O'Keefe

It's been a year since Sheriff Erin Anders tracked down and killed a werewolf in her home town of Ridgecrest. She also discovered that her then boyfriend Ron Ross was a werewolf seeking treatment from the local town doctor. Doctor Milton is a werewolf himself and runs an underground clinic for werewolves to help them keep their affliction in remission.

It's a year later, and she sees on the news that the city of New Orleans is suffering a rash of wolf attacks just like Ridgecrest experienced the year before. Erin knows these are no wolf attacks, she teams up with Doctor Milton, Ron, and Ford, a New Orleans police detective, to track down the werewolf in New Orleans. It turns out that Melvin Craig, the brother of the werewolf Erin killed the year before is out for revenge and has his sights set on Doctor Martin and Erin. Craig has a sinister plan for Erin and Doctor Milton in this cat and mouse gothic suspense thriller where the werewolves don't need to wait for a full moon during the winter solstice.